Intelligence of course was just what was needed; in fact we were not obliged to doubt long that this was the case, as heavy and long lines of rebel infantry made their appearance on our right flank in the vicinity of Sheridan's forces, who were dismounted. General Hancock having accomplished the object of the expedition, issued orders to return to Petersburg. As soon as the darkness of night would permit, our soldiers were withdrawn and we took up our line of march for Petersburg. We did not halt at all until we reached the point where the attack was made on the rebel works on the morning of the 30th. As we came near the position, Gen. Grant passed by and we were then immediately massed by brigade, this had hardly been accomplished when a terrific explosion took place, which seemed to shake the ground we stood upon. A rebel fort had been blown up, and its garrison buried in the ruins. A heavy cannonade took place immediately which lasted for several hours. The infantry then charged the works and took possession of them. From some negligence on the part of the officer in command of the storming party, they did not move forward as soon as directed. Gen. Grant's instructions were to charge as soon as the explosion took place. This however was not done and when our men entered the works, they were subjected to an enfilading fire from the enemy's batteries on our right, which had been placed in position after the destruction of their works. At the same time a heavy column of infantry, charged our line and compelled our men to retire to their original position. That General Grant was somewhat disappointed at the result is obvious. As he remarked to a prominent Minnesotan, "We ought to have had possession of Petersburg." A thorough investigation of the affair will likely take place.

OUR LOUISVILLE LETTER.

Yesterday was fast day. A great many of us kept it; some from religious motives, and some were compelled to abstain by the force of necessity. All business houses of every description were closed from morning till night. Sevens, as well as loyalists, turned their eyes and closed their doors upon anxious customers; while the whole city assumed the air of a certain "deserted village" of which O. G. used to dilate upon.

Important Arrest of Counterfeiter.

From the Cincinnati Commercial, Aug. 6.

For some months past a daring gang of accomplished counterfeiters of Treasury notes and postal currency, have been successfully operating throughout the West and Southwest. This fact has been evident for some time, from the large quantity of counterfeit money set afloat, and the attention of the government authorities having been attracted to the rascals thus enacted, measures were instituted and vigorous prosecution was brought to bear upon the counterfeiters, bringing the guilty parties to justice. Experienced government detectives have been operating for some weeks past to "work up" the affair, and are happy to record their success in the undertaking. It was ascertained in the first place, that many counterfeiters were based out of Cincinnati, and a strong association; that their headquarters were at Cincinnati, Indianapolis, and St. Louis, that they had connections with a large number of "dealers" through the West, many of whom followed the army in their business of "showing" the "stuff." Working the affair skillfully, the detectives soon managed to make the acquaintance of some of the gang in each of the three cities mentioned, by practicing the old school dodge of passing themselves off as "allys," and oldhands at the "business," and anxious to engage in that particular line. All the necessary information having been secured in this manner which would not, of course, be advisable to publish in detail, a plan was arranged for the capture of the counterfeiters of the gang in each of the three cities at about the same time. At Indianapolis ten of the "managers" and "dealers" were secured, together with two printing presses and plates for the manufacture of $20 Treasury notes and postal currency of the denomination of cents. At St. Louis fourteen were taken, and with them a large quantity of ink, and the peculiar paper used in the work. They also secured a number of presses and plates for the manufacture of $20 Treasury notes and postal currency of the denomination of cents. COMPOSITORS WANTED.

Six or seven good compositors are wanted at this office. We pay 30 cents per line for copy set in at which compositors can earn from $25 to $50 per week, according to their experience in the business—or from $100 to $150 per year.

We must again beg the indulgence of our readers for a meagre sheet for a day or two, for we are reduced to our usual form of compositors. We call for reinforcements.

THE NEWS.

Our dispatches give us the solution of some of the mysterious movements of troops down James river, which have so puzzled the rebels and our friends. It was another feint to cover another sudden movement on the north bank of the James towards Fort Darling, under the bold and brilliant Hancock. He has reached within two miles of Fort Darling. Important results are expected.

Sheridan has reached Strasburg, in his pursuit of Early, who is said to have been reinforced with twenty thousand men.

We have the official report of the capture of Forts Gaines and Powell, and of the investment of Fort Morgan by Gen.
Canby.

Johnston's guerrillas are playing hob on the banks of the Ohio. Three steamboats laden with government stores were captured and mutilated.

Other news unimportant.

KNOWN BY THEIR FRUITS.

The Democratic party in every State in the Union, have resisted to the last any attempt to restore to our soldiers in the field, the right of suffrage. The last instance is in Pennsylvania, where an election has just been held to determine whether the soldiers shall be allowed to vote or not. The result is very significant, as may be seen by the following record of a few counties:

Counties. For Soldiers Voting. Against.
Berks, 1,881 6,823
Blair, 2,262 3,223
Bucks, 3,906 1,000
Chester, 728 1,000
Montgomery, 4,908 4,748
Northampton, 1,000 1,000 Columbia, 1,000 1,000
Montour, 865 710

Every one familiar with the politics of Pennsylvania will recognize the counties that give majorities against allowing the soldiers to vote as the most lawless, and overwhelmingly "Democratic" of any in the State, old Berks leading the rank of infamy, while those counties in which the soldiers' friends largely predominate are all well known Republican strongholds.

The party of the Union and soldiers rights have carried the day by a 50-000 to 100,000 majority, which is a pro-pity clear indication of how Pennsylvania will go next fall.

THE INDIAN RAID.

From a messenger who arrived on the stage from Manitowish at twelve o'clock last night, bearing dispatches for General Sibley, we learn that two women had been found murdered by the Indians. The half-breed scouts from Fort Ridgely had discovered about fifty Sioux on the Big Cottonwood River, from which it was feared that the raid was more formidable than at first conjectured.

RAIDERS RECENT FROM HIS PERILOUS POSITION.

The account we printed yesterday of the accident to the rope-walker Farini, who tried to walk across the rapids at Niagara on iron stilts, and thereupon slipped, one stilt breaking into the water, and miraculously got ashore on Robinson's Island, left that poor devil in a melancholy situation, hopelessly cut off from the main land by the boiling current and doomed, the account said, to a horrible death by starvation. And here is the way he got out of it:

Special to the Rochester Democrat.

NIAGARA FALLS, August 9.—Mons.
Farini has succeeded in making his escape from his uncomfortable position this afternoon about five o'clock, in this manner: His brother walked out and floated a rope down to him, and by this means he was enabled to walk across the rapids to Goat Island, and is now at his comfortable quarters at the International.

THE SAINT PAUL PRESS.

CONSISTENT.

A correspondent sends us the following card, cut from the Weekly Memphis Bulletin of Jan. 6th, 1860. It shows the business of the rebel General Forrest when in civil life to have been perfectly consistent with his subsequent military course:

A CARD.

HAVING ASSOCIATED WITH ME IN my old business—that of buying and selling negroes, both on commission and on private account—Mr. S. S. Jones, of De Soto, Mississippi, and my brother, Wm. H. Forrest, of Memphis, I am tender to my friends letter facilities than I have ever been able to offer them.

Our buildings are located at No. 89 Adams street, next door east of my old store; they are spacious, commodious, convenient, and admirably adapted to the business of buying and selling negroes, and to the sale of real estate. I am tender to my friends letter
them.

FORREST, JONES & CO.

No. 89, Adams Street, Memphis, Tenn.
DEALERS IN SLAVES.
They board and sell on commission, and keep constantly on hand a large assortment of Negroes, of various breeds and colors.

Accustomed to treat negroes as cattle, to buy and sell them as articles of merchandise, it is wonderful that, when the fortune of war put them as prisoners in his hands, he should forget that they were human beings—that the relations seller of human flesh and blood should be also their remorseless butcher?

And, by the way, we should like to inquire of some of the orators that Copperhead pop-wow the other night, who were so fierce against the anti-slavery policies of the government, whether they like to have that agent of the butcher Forrest again flaunting from his old slave pen in Memphis?

TICKETS FOR SOLDIERS' VOICES.

The Secretary of State requests that County and District Committees, who send him tickets to be forwarded to the various regiments, shall do them up in pockets, each kind by itself, and with a specimen pasted on the outside. This great confusion, trouble and delay will be avoided. Have the name of the County or District conspicuously printed at the head of the Ticket.

HOLD YOUR CONVENTIONS.

County and other Conventions should be held soon. That the tickets may be got up at once, and sent to our soldiers in the field in time to reach them early.

LET COL. AVERELL receive a telegram from the following effect:

"Substitutes furnished before the draft must be credited to the soldier in which the principal is located."

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.

The mail boat from City Point to-day reports that on Saturday afternoon a body of our troops embarked on transports at City Point, and moved up the river during the night under cover of the fire of gunboats, and effected a landing near Dutch Gap.

The object of this movement is stated to be the dislodgment of a considerable force of the enemy, who had entrenched themselves on the river, and possibly also as a reconnaissance to ascertain what troops Lee has before Richmond, and if he is sending any considerable reinforcements to Early.

Heavy firing was going on when the Vanderbilt left, both cannonading and musketry.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.

[Special to World.]—Plenty of rumor is in circulation here to-day in regard to the movement of the army corps in Virginia, most of which are undoubtedly without foundation.

There seems to be little doubt, however, that important changes are going on in the disposition of the rebel forces, which, of course, must cause corresponding movements on the part of the Union armies, which will take some time yet to be developed.

The Herald correspondent of the 14th says but little fighting has occurred for a week past until yesterday morning about six in the morning, when heavy guns were heard in the direction of Deep Bottom, and a steady and sometimes furious cannonading was kept up all day.

The attack was commenced by the enemy,
and proved to be an attempt to dislodge, with their artillery, certain working parties of the land which we had just discovered. Their batteries were unable to accomplish it, however, and one or two of their rams dropped down the river as far as was prudent, and added their fire to the other. The affair was an artillery engagement at long range throughout, in which our losses are inconceivable, and of course, unknown. The character of the engagement of the operations referred to, in which working parties were engaged, cannot be more than alluded to at present. Time must develop them further.

The Herald's Point of Rocks correspondent of the 14th says, for some time past Butler has been coming over a brilliant scheme whereby to annoy the enemy and advance the Union interest in this region. Materially, his plan consisted in the construction of a canal at what has been heretofore known as Butler's Gap, in the direct face of the enemy, which, when done, should among other results, by reason of its situation, extend their lines of defense a distance of four miles, that is to say the distance saved to us by the digging of the canal, which is to be 140 yards in length, is 7 miles of watercourse in the James River. This morning the men engaged on this work were shelled by the rebel rams, but our gunboats soon drove them away.

The Herald's correspondent before Petersburg, of the 13th says the rebels have erected a new fort on the site of the exposed one, and opened yesterday with two Whitworth guns. It is remarkable how few casualties occur. Yesterday I heard of not more than four or five, yet the rebels there at least several hundred shells during the day.

Reconnaissance-Butler Digging a Canal to Reach the Rebels and are driven off-Enter a Brilliant Movement of Hancock North of the James.

The mail boat from City Point to-day
reports that on Saturday afternoon a body of our troops embarked on transports
during the night under cover of the fire
Dutch Gap.

The object of this movement is stated
to be the dislodgment of a considerable
he is sending any considerable reinforcements to Early.

Heavy firing was going on when the Vanderbilt left, both cannonading and
musketry.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.

[Special to World.]—Plenty of rumor
without foundation.

on in the disposition of the rebel forces,
armies, which will take some time yet to be developed.

says but little fighting has occurred for a
week past until yesterday morning about
were heard in the direction of Deep Bottom, and a steady and sometimes furious
cannonading was kept up all day.

The attack was commenced by the enemy,
and proved to be an attempt to dislodge,
of the land which we had just dis-
far as was prudent, and added their fire
of course, unknown. The character
red to, in which working parties were en-
ther.

The Herald's Point of Rocks corre-
past Butler has been coming over a brilliant scheme whereby to annoy the enemy and advance the Union interest in
sisted in the construction of a canal at
other results, by reason of its situ-
canal, which is to be 140 yards in length,
is 7 miles of watercourse in the James
on this work were shelled by the rebel
away.

erected a new fort on the site of the ex-
two Whitworth guns. It is remarkable
heard of not more than four or five, yet
shells during the day.

McClellan.

The McClellan meeting at New York pretty plainly evinced that the Democracy of that city at least desire the nomination of this overblown martinet by the Chicago Convention. The reason which dictates this curious choice is thus laid out in the resolutions:

Resolved, That success in the election, in opposition to the powerful combination of Administration, depends upon the popular ray of the candidate with the army; and the selection must, therefore, fall on one of the great soldiers who have distinguished themselves in the principles upon which the government was founded.

It is extremely likely, of course, that the veterans whom Grant and Sherman and Hancock and Hooker, and a hundred others have led from victory to victory, from the beginning of the war, under whose mastery leadership they have wrested more than half—virtually two-thirds—of the rebel territory from rebel rule; under whom they have borne the victorious flag of the Union in almost unbroken triumph from St. Louis to New Orleans, from the Ohio to the Chattahoochee, and from the Potomac to the Appomattox—is, of course, very likely, we say, that these glorious old veterans will be zealous to place over the heads of their favorite generals a "used up" and "played out" military martinet, whose military career was a disastrous series of blunders and failures from beginning to end, and who, during the year and a half under his command, never conquered a foot of soil from the Rebels, never brought an acre of rebel territory permanently within the Union lines. They will, of course, feel highly flattered by the declared preference of the Democratic leaders for a general who has absolutely done nothing, over the glorious galaxy of soldiers who have accomplished all that has been done towards the subjugation of the rebellion, and who already have the final victory and the utter overthrow of the rebel power within their grasp. They will, of course, be very forward to help the impotent and do-nothing McClellan to seize the fruits of the victories they have won; very forward to take the glorious crown of a nation's gratitude from the brows of the emperors of Donelson and Shiloh, and Murfreesboro and Vicksburg, and Chattanooga and Atlanta, and Spotsylvania, and a hundred other glorious battle-fields, to place it on the head of the bragging grave-digger of the Chickamauga, who threw away the victories won in spite of him by the valor of his soldiers; whose claims to military merit rest wholly upon a strained hypothesis of possible achievements; and whose exploits consist of what he boasted he would do, but never did—of splendid opportunities lost by his inebriety, and of the minimum of performance supplemented by the maximum of unfulfilled promise.

THE INDIAN RAID.

Col. Frend, commander of the post at Fort Ridgely, writes to Gen. Stibbey that his scouts had discovered 50 Sioux of the White Lodge and Sleepy-Eye bands between the Big Sioux and Hole-in-the-Mountain. Force enough has been dispatched after them to overtake and wipe them out.

By a typographical error in our paper of yesterday, we were made to speak of "two women" as having been found murdered. It should have read "two men"—those before mentioned. No other murders have been heard of.

LATER.

By a passenger in the stage from Mankato last night, we learn that Duncan Kennedy reports having seen a number of Indians at Red Wood.
